master s thesis from the year 2024 in the subject pedagogy general grade 9 university of iceland faculty of diversity and education language english abstract this study delves into the experiences of migrant parents residing in iceland and their perceptions of their children s language learning journey in icelandic preschools with multilingualism playing a crucial role in today s diverse icelandic society understanding the perspectives of migrant parents is essential for fostering inclusive educational environments in preschools by taking a critical approach my primary focus will be on identifying and analyzing the shortcomings within the educational institutions of reykjavik city and their impact on migrant parents and their children s language development through qualitative interviews with six migrant parents in iceland through narrative analysis and an autoethnographic approach this research aims at shedding light on the experiences and challenges of migrant parents as their children navigate language acquisition in icelandic preschool settings while learning their heritage language at home i will also ask the question of how much of the policies of the national curriculum have been carried out in different educational facilities inside reykjavik consequently i want to discuss if preschools in reykjavik stick to a multilingual policy or if they try to maintain a monolingual discourse for young children the parents i interviewed for this paper expressed concerns about communication issues with their children s preschools in iceland additionally they highlighted a perceived lack of staff in icelandic preschools leading to the perceived lack of communication the parents also felt that there was an overemphasis on the icelandic language this in turn made it difficult and frustrating for the children to communicate in their home or heritage languages the findings aim to contribute to a deeper understanding of multilingualism in educational contexts in reykjavik and aim at providing valuable insights for educators and policy makers to support language development and integration for migrant children there has been a long standing interest in multilingualism in icelandic preschools and the impact of the linguistically diverse upbringing of children in this country with my research i try to contribute to the ongoing discourse on multilingual education in preschools seminar paper from the year 2022 in the subject didactics for the subject english pedagogy literature studies grade 1 3 university of flensburg institut für sprache literatur und medien course tefl in primary school playful english teaching language english abstract the aim of this paper is to raise awareness of the importance of integrating games in the primary efl classroom the approach to foreign language teaching has shifted in the sense that it is now not only a possibility but rather a requirement that foreign language teaching and learning should be enjoyable a teaching technique that is characterized by the elements of fun and play is the use of games hence this paper argues for the implementation of games as a teaching technique in the primary efl classroom and emphasizes the benefits of doing so regarding the positive impact it has on the language learning process although the pedagogical value of games in the teaching of english as a foreign language efl is generally acknowledged the usage of games in primary efl education is less documented and even less practiced since research on foreign language teaching and learning often focuses on older learners the inclusion of games in children s education has been studied but rarely with the focus on foreign language learning thus there is still a lot of research to do when it comes to teaching english as a foreign language playfully to primary school students thesis m a from the year 2023 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade a urmia university urmia university west azerbaijan iran course teaching english language english abstract socio cultural theorists consider self regulation sr a vital personal characteristic that can guide individuals in reaching their personal and more importantly their learning goals specifically when learning languages is involved this necessitates empowering learners as far as their sr skill is involved thus training sr strategies among other measures seems to be a very important mission in language learning process the aim of the current study was therefore to expound the effect of training sr skills observation emulation self control and self regulation upon the writing skill through applying a package adopted from zimmerman s model 2013 the model encompassed 12 self regulated learning strategies self evaluation organizing and transforming goal setting and planning seeking information keeping records and monitoring environmental structuring self consequences rehearsing and memorizing seeking social assistance and reviewing records that focused on the writing skill of 57 intermediate iranian efl learners in an online platform in the course of a semi experimental study the sr profile as well as performance in writing tasks of participants divided into two groups namely control n 30 and experimental n 27 were measured through a five point likert scale questionnaire as well as writing tasks both pre to treatment for homogeneity purposes and post to treatment for comparison purposes respectively results of a set of non parametric mann whitney u tests showed that training sr strategies did not significantly affect the writing skill of intermediate efl learners in the context of the current study given the limitations embedded in online platforms including technological shortcomings online learning and education literacy motivational factors etc especially in the context of iran it was concluded that although some training processes work very well in real classes they may not be effective in online courses consequently as far as an effective online instruction is involved the first step should be to overcome the shortcomings in advance and then online training of sr can be initiated learning to teach in south africa is a collection of essays by one of south africa s most respected thinkers in education these essays span the crucial years of democratic transition in south africa and show the consistency of morrow s thinking over this period he argues for the retrieval of the primacy of the practice of professional teaching in our thinking about the transformation of schooling and education in our country reveals the emergence of his seminal distinction between formal and epistemological access puts forward some definite views about teacher education and continues to struggle with relativism one of the strands of the legacies of colonialism and apartheid these essays are an essential read for anyone interested in the transformation of education and especially those who have a role in shaping its future
